Effective Date: October 7, 2026

Welcome to Rising Up Together. These Terms of Use (“Terms”) govern your access to and use of the Rising Up Together website, online resources, member areas, forms, materials, and related digital services (collectively, the “Website”).

By accessing or using the Website, you agree to these Terms. If you do not agree with these Terms, please do not use the Website.

1. About Rising Up Together

Rising Up Together is a nonprofit organization dedicated to strengthening youth through connection, purpose, resilience, and the development of healthy life skills.

Our programs, including the Resilient Youth Program, may be offered through schools, community organizations, churches, youth organizations, instructors, volunteers, parent representatives, and other approved hosts.

2. Educational and Informational Purposes

Content provided through the Website and Rising Up Together programs is intended for educational, informational, and youth-development purposes.

Rising Up Together does not provide medical, psychological, psychiatric, therapeutic, legal, or other professional healthcare services. Program materials and website content are not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any medical or mental health condition or replace advice or treatment from a qualified professional.

If a participant is experiencing a medical or mental health emergency, appropriate emergency or professional services should be contacted.

3. Youth Participation and Parent/Guardian Responsibility

Rising Up Together serves youth and families. Certain programs, activities, forms, resources, or online areas may be intended for minors.

When parental or guardian authorization is required, a parent or legal guardian must provide the necessary permission before the minor participates or submits requested personal information.

Parents and guardians are responsible for reviewing program requirements, permissions, releases, and other information provided in connection with their child’s participation.

Rising Up Together may establish additional youth-safety requirements for particular programs, events, hosts, instructors, volunteers, or activities.

4. Website Accounts and Member Areas

Certain Website resources may only be available to approved users, including hosts, instructors, parent representatives, volunteers, interns, youth participants, or other authorized individuals.

Users are responsible for maintaining the confidentiality of their login credentials and may not share access with unauthorized individuals.

Users agree to provide accurate information when creating or maintaining an account and to notify Rising Up Together if they believe their account has been accessed without authorization.

Rising Up Together may suspend, restrict, or terminate access when reasonably necessary to protect participants, confidential information, program materials, the organization, or other users.

5. Program Materials and Intellectual Property

Unless otherwise stated, Website content and Rising Up Together program materials—including curriculum, activities, games, lesson plans, training materials, graphics, videos, documents, logos, designs, worksheets, and other resources—are owned by or licensed to Rising Up Together and are protected by applicable intellectual property laws.

Authorized hosts, instructors, and other approved users may use program materials only for the purposes and during the period authorized by Rising Up Together.
